ADMINISTRATION

CHARLES BYERS 1944-1959

The beginning of our school year was saddened by the loss of a familiar face, a friend and fellow student. Charles Byers, a sophomore of S. H. S., was killed in a tragic accident during the summer. Charles was very active in school activities and was well liked by everyone.

Someone once said, "To live in the hearts of your friends is not to die." Charles still lives in our hearts and has left a pleasant memory which will live forever.

I dare do all that may become a man; Who dares do more, is none.

VOCATIONAL GUIDANCE COUNSELORS

One of the main jobs of the new Guidance Department is helping students decide on college selection. With the help of the guidance teachers, the student will determine the college or career suited to him. In the future, the department hopes to attempt a prediction of grade expectations in college.

SHAKESPEARE

1960 SENIOR SUPERLATIVES

The longest class meeting in the history of S.H.S. initiated the change in the procedure of electing the superlatives. Mr. Fordham proposed the adoption of the new method. Essentially the system consists of naming a set number of persons for all around superlativity instead of tagging each individual with a single title such as "cutest," "wittiest," "most intellectual," or "most athletic" as has been done for the past number of years. After much debate and discussion the matter was resolved. The new system was passed by a large majority vote.

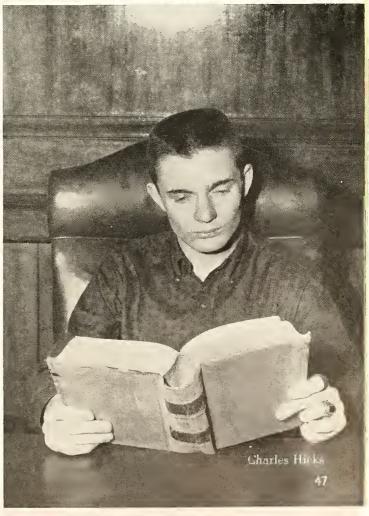

It was decided that thirty persons would be nominated and fifteen superlatives were to be chosen from that group in an election. The nominations were made according to the rule; a reason had to be given for each nomination.

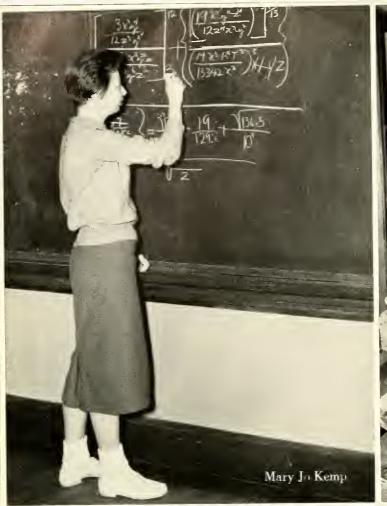

Nominations were based on a list of qualities voted on by the class. These twelve qualities were the basis for nomination: Initiative, Service, Talent, Adaptability, Leadership, Cooperation, Dependability, Loyalty, Versatility, Scholarship, Athletic Ability, and Moral Integrity.

BASEBALL

What's wrong, Coach Ramsey? You look worried!

And they got down there in two little hunches . . .

And they would run at one another, and kick one another, and throw one another down, and grind their feet in one another . . . and just as soon as one of 'em 'nd get hurt, they'd tote him off and run another'n on.

But friends, I have studied about it, and I think it's some kindly of a contest where they see which one of them little bunches can take that punkin' and run, from one end of that cow pasture without either gettin knocked down, or STEPPING IN SOMETHING!

Wait, Mister, don't shoot!

FAIR DAY

Fair Day this year was enjoyed by all, teachers and students alike. There was participation in the booths, exhibitions, livestock shows, and canned goods show. The rides, amusements, cotton candy, candy apples, and all-around fun were thoroughly enjoyed by all.

HALLOWEEN CARNIVAL

This year's carnival was the biggest yet, netting the Senior Class a big profit for their class trip.

Our Queen, "MR." GENE SIMMONS

The queen contest, a new facet of the carnival, was a big success, with business men of the town participating.

Bob and Jo Ann won over four other couples in the Sock Hop.

CHRISTMAS

"Oh, You'd better watch out!"

"Behold, I bring you tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people."

"'Tis the season to be jolly!"

The P.T.A. Day began with an assembly. Then a luncheon was served by the Beta Club.

They discussed their children's progress and need to progress in a personal manner with each of their child's teachers.

P.T.A. DAY

This was a very special day for the teachers of S.H.S. and their student's parents.

After a general "get-together" the teachers returned to their usual classrooms. The parents followed their children's schedule, going through all their classes and meeting all their teachers.

All-in-all it was a very successful day. More meetings of this kind would prove profitable.

In traditional rivalry, teachers met students on an equal basis, if not for but an hour . . . Talk about funny, but you have never seen anything to compare with this, friends. While the student team was so courageously led on by their daring and fearless cheerleaders, they fought hard, but Mr. Gambrell, umpire, proved to be just a little too much for them. The bleachers were filled to capacity by the loyal students of ole S.H.S., and the scoreboard never once showed scores in favor of . . . uh . . . ah . . . (the students).

Of course, the world has yet to see ball playing such as was played that day. Quarter after quarter, the students played on, but here again. Coach Novis Fields and his able assistant. Coach Ramsey, just simply outclassed the poor students. By the end of the game, the fans were wild with excitement, with the score finally resting at Students—8: Faculty—36. The staff has only one word of advice to next year's student team . . . keep plugging, govern yourselves accordingly, and CARRY ON.

STUDENT-TEACHER GAME

GOVERNMENT CLASSES VISIT CAPITAL

- Getting up at 4:30 in the morning can be hard to do, but not for this years' government classes. They were ready to go . . . except for a few unfinished breakfasts.
- 2. Arrival at the capital!
- 3. After enjoying seeing legislation passed in the Senate and the House, and being recognized by Hon. George Smith,
- 1. The group roamed the capital building mezzanine and enjoyed some interesting exhibitions to be found there.
- 5. After leaving the capital, the group was treated to a visit to the Cyclorama.
- All in all, after a very full day, the group was pretty well pooped when Wade drove the bus up to the schoolhouse steps.
- But the real highlight of the trip was shaking hands with the Governor.

MISS DOUGLAS ANN LEWIS Homecoming Queen

MISS CAROL BRASWELL 12th Grade Representative

The 1960 Homecoming consisted of a series of events. On Thursday night preceding the Homecoming game, a pep rally was conducted by the cheerleaders in the center of town. With special permission from the mayor this event was successfully carried out, accompanied by a huge bonfire and the enthusiastic participation of many S.H.S. students.

The proceedings of the following day began with the hour long coronation of her majesty. This event was heralded by an orchestration of the high school bank, yells by the cheerleaders, and the vigorous ovation of her subjects.

After the queen had been entertained she was whirled through Swainsboro, leading a mile long parade, the longest in the history of the high school.

After the strain of the day, her tired majesty and mighty tigers retired in order to gain strength for the forthcoming night.

That night revealed, as expected, a fighting romp of the old tiger spirit.

The day was drawn to an end by the dance which consisted largely of the tigers but also many of the opposing team and their cheerleaders attended.

Thus ended one of the most enjoyed days in the annals of Swainsboro High School.

S DAY

The annual S Day game is traditionally at the end of spring training. It is the final trounce of the Seniors upon their home football field.

As it is a farewell to the Seniors it is also a welcome to next year's team, it being an intramural game.

This time being so important requires a queen and court to emphasize its place in our school.

Sally,

whis year has been filled with team, Joyo and heartache. I look back now and see things that I have done and I could lithrally kick myself. Please try to understand that I have good intentions even the one I good them up.

You have been the one I can always count on for help whe the going got rough.

We have had a few good times requardless of all I say they tell me that good times always out weigh the bad time. Remember all the times we have plotted & planned on the phone - only to end up to "chickes" to carry them out.

med angrue.
